Mental health recovery is an ongoing process, not a single outcome. Each person's recovery experience is unique. By making a personalized, inclusive plan for managing a mental health condition, a person has the best chance of living a meaningful life.
The Journey of Mental Health Recovery

7 out of 1,000 US Adults Are Living With Schizophrenia

Mental health recovery is a lifelong journey. There are ups and downs and twists and turns along the way, but it's important to be hopeful.

You are not alone. Many people living with a mental health condition are active in their recovery, receive help from people known as their support network, and are able to live productive and fulfilling lives.

Mental health recovery is an ongoing process, not a single outcome. Each person’s recovery experience is unique, and by making a personalized, inclusive plan for managing a mental health condition, a person has the best chance of living a meaningful life.

For more information, visit www.HopeForSchizophrenia.com
Making Decisions Together

If you are healthy and you want to, you can be involved in making decisions about your treatment, wellness, and recovery. This works best if both you and your healthcare professional are able to partner with each other in the spirit of teamwork.

Being active in treatment and recovery decisions and making decisions together are based on having an open and honest relationship with your healthcare professional. It is a respectful exchange of information between two experts.

In this relationship, YOU know and can share:

- What matters most to you in your life
- Your values and preferences
- Your life experiences and goals
In this relationship, the HEALTHCARE PROFESSIONAL (HCP) can provide information on:

- Treatment/medication options
- Details about the pros and cons of the options
- Evidence to support information about the options
- Mental health services

When you are involved and receive appropriate care based on YOUR needs, you may be more likely to follow through with treatment and services.

When you and your support network have a dialogue about your treatment and recovery, your health may improve.
Elements of Making Decisions Together

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Establish a Partnership</th>
<th>Find &amp; Share Information</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Weigh Options Together</td>
<td>Make a Decision</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Being Active in Your Recovery

Empowers You to:

- Make informed decisions based on what’s important to YOU.
- Receive treatment, medication, and services that reflect YOUR goals.
- Make sure that decisions are right for YOUR needs and preferences. This may help motivate you to follow through with treatment and services YOU have played a part in choosing.
Your Support Network

The people who can support you in your recovery journey and decisions are called your support network.

Your support network may include:

- Family
- Spouse or partner
- Friends
- Doctors
- Nurses
- Therapists
- Social workers
- Case managers
- Peer counselors
- Housing specialists
- Support group leaders
- Clergy
- Others

List the people who are part of your support network:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Their Role</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Recovery Decisions

Along the mental health recovery journey, you may be faced with decisions about medication, therapy, and overall health.

Other recovery decisions you may have to make may be related to housing, employment, and personal finances.

Can you be a part of these decisions?

Yes!
It’s your right to participate in decisions about your treatment and recovery if you feel healthy and confident.

It’s important to be aware that in some instances, like a crisis, an episode, or hospitalization, it may not be the right time for you to participate in decisions about your treatment. Your doctor will use their medical judgment to determine if you are able to participate.

Remember—YOU are an important member of your treatment team and are encouraged to communicate and partner with healthcare professionals about your treatment and recovery.
Every Day, You Make Decisions

Day-to-Day Decisions

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Whom to talk with?</th>
<th>What to wear today?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>What to eat for lunch?</td>
<td>Which movie to see?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

What are some other day-to-day decisions you make in your life?

_____________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________

Sometimes decisions are related to your treatment and recovery.

Life Decisions

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Should I go back to school?</th>
<th>Do I want a new housing situation?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Do I want to be involved in treatment decisions?</td>
<td>Do I want to get a job?</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Life Decisions

Check if you’ve ever had to make decisions in these areas:

- [ ] Going back to school
- [ ] Moving to new housing
- [ ] Getting a job
- [ ] Figuring out a treatment plan

What are some other decisions you make in your life?

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

It may take time to become comfortable with the idea of playing a more active role in your treatment and recovery. Who participates in decisions about your care and how YOU participate are ultimately YOUR choices.

- [ ] Just Me
- [ ] I’d Like Your Help/Ideas
- [ ] Make the Decision for Me
Housing

Use this worksheet to begin a conversation with your treatment team about your preferences and to make an informed decision that is best for your needs.

What decision am I facing?

Choosing a housing option

Whom do I want to participate in this decision?

- Me
- My doctor
- My therapist
- My social worker/case manager
- Other
- Other
- My family member, spouse/partner, or friend

Values and preferences

Think about what your experiences, values, and preferences are around this topic. Make sure to share these with members of your treatment team.

What is important to me (my values), and what are my experiences?

What are my options?

With the help of your treatment team, you can gather information and come up with a list of options that are available to you.

Example: Stay in supportive housing, live on my own

Option A

Option B

Option C

For more information, visit www.HopeForSchizophrenia.com
Pros and Cons

Work with your doctor and your support network to make an informed decision. Together, you can list the pros and cons based on your preferences and weigh your options. Use stars (★) to show how important the pro or con is to you. Five stars (★★★★★) means it matters “a lot.” No stars means “it does not matter at all.”

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Pros</th>
<th>How much it matters</th>
<th>Cons</th>
<th>How much it matters</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Option A</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Example:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stay in supportive housing, live on my own</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Option B</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Example:</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Live on my own</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Option C</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Now it’s time to make a decision

Which option do you prefer?
- Option A
- Option B
- Option C
- Unsure

Which option does my support network member prefer?
- Option A
- Option B
- Option C
- Unsure

---

For more information, visit www.HopeForSchizophrenia.com
Decisions Along the Recovery Journey

For people living with schizophrenia, there are many decisions along the recovery journey. One important treatment decision is about medication—which, for many people, is a foundation of recovery.

There also are other decisions about supportive treatments that help a person’s recovery.

Supportive Treatments

- Going to therapy
- Attending support groups
- Finding safe and stable housing
- Getting employment or vocational counseling

What other supportive treatments could help YOU in your recovery?

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________

________________________________________________________________________
Medication Decisions

If medication is part of your treatment plan, you can participate and partner with your doctor to choose the best medication for YOUR needs. The following information is specific to schizophrenia medication.

Schizophrenia Medication Considerations

Talk to your doctor about:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Your medical history</th>
<th>How to take the medication</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Risks and benefits</td>
<td>Financial costs</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Potential side effects</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Schizophrenia Medication Options

Oral medications are taken every day or several times a day and include pills, dissolvable tablets, and oral solutions.

Examples
- Pills
- Dissolvable tablets
- Oral solutions

Injectable medications

Long-acting injections are given less often than daily—for example, once or twice a month are common.

Short-acting injections can be taken daily, and often are used in crisis situations.

Talking to your doctor about these and other considerations can help you understand your options and the benefits and risks.
Medication

Use this worksheet to begin a conversation with your treatment team about your preferences and to make an informed decision that is best for your needs.

What decision am I facing?

Choosing a medication

What are my options?

With the help of your treatment team, you can gather information and come up with a list of options that are available to you.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Purpose</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Medication A</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Medication B</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Medication C</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Whom do I want to participate in this decision?

- Me
- My doctor
- My therapist
- My social worker/case manager
- Other
- Other
- My family member, spouse/partner, or friend

Values and preferences

Think about your medical history, experiences with medication, and what your values and preferences are around this topic. Make sure to share these with your doctor and members of your treatment team.

What is important to me (my values), and what are my experiences?

______________________________

______________________________

______________________________

What are my options?
Pros and Cons

Work with your doctor and your support network to make an informed decision. Together, you can list the pros and cons based on your preferences and weigh your options. Use stars (★) to show how important the pro or con is to you. Five stars (★★★★★) means it matters “a lot.” No stars means “it does not matter at all.”

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>★ Pros</th>
<th>How much it matters</th>
<th>★★ Cons</th>
<th>How much it matters</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Medication A</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Medication B</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Medication C</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Not taking medication</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Now it’s time to make a decision

Which option do you prefer?
- Option A
- Option B
- Option C
- Unsure

Which option does my doctor prefer?
- Option A
- Option B
- Option C
- Unsure

Are my doctor and I in agreement about the medication decision?
- Yes
- No
Decision Worksheet

Use this worksheet to begin a conversation with your treatment team about your preferences and to make an informed decision that is best for your needs.

Decision

What decision am I facing?

Next, decide how big of a role you want to play in the decision. If you decide to take part in the decision, you can use the rest of the worksheet to help guide your thoughts and discussion with your treatment team.

Whom do I want to participate in this decision?

- Me
- My doctor
- My therapist
- My social worker/case manager
- My family member, spouse/partner, or friend
- Other

Values and preferences

Think about what your experiences, values, and preferences are around this topic. Make sure to share these with members of your treatment team.

What is important to me (my values), and what are my experiences?

What are my options?

With the help of your treatment team, you can gather information and come up with a list of options that are available to you.

- Option A
- Option B
- Option C
 Pros and Cons

Work with your doctor and your support network to make an informed decision. Together, you can list the pros and cons based on your preferences and weigh your options. Use stars (★) to show how important the pro or con is to you. Five stars (★★★★★) means it matters “a lot.” No stars means “it does not matter at all.”

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Pros</th>
<th>How much it matters</th>
<th>Cons</th>
<th>How much it matters</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Option A

Option B

Option C

Now it’s time to make a decision

Which option do you prefer?

- Option A
- Option B
- Option C
- Unsure

Which option does my support network member prefer?

- Option A
- Option B
- Option C
- Unsure
Be Active in Your Treatment

Practice Partnership
Remember, you and your treatment team are equal partners. Ideally, your relationship should be built on mutual trust and respect.

Inform Yourself
Try to get as much information as possible about your mental health condition and available medication and treatments. Being informed will empower and prepare you to make decisions.

Be Open and Honest
Tell your treatment team what’s important to you. Don’t be shy—say what you want and need from your treatment.

Listen Carefully
Take notes to remember what was said during your appointments. If it’s helpful, bring a friend or relative with you for support and another set of ears.

Ask Questions
Discuss available treatment options and the pros and cons. If you don’t understand or need something explained more clearly—speak up!

Access Culturally Competent Care
Everybody deserves mental health treatment that respects his or her cultural beliefs and language needs. It’s your right to ask for an interpreter or a healthcare professional who is familiar with and sensitive to your cultural needs.
Decision Aids Can Be Helpful

Decision aids are used in mental health and other health conditions to help YOU work through treatment and recovery decisions with YOUR treatment team.

They provide information about the condition(s), treatment options, and risks and benefits of each option.

They also can help you organize and share what’s important to you and any worries or concerns you may have with your healthcare professional and treatment team.

Decision aids can be booklets, group discussions, computer-based programs, or decision boards.

There are many decision aids available for people living with mental health or other health conditions. Ask your treatment team for assistance, or feel free to search the Internet for decision aids.

It is important to note that decision aids DO NOT replace discussions with your healthcare professional, but they can add to the discussion.
You Are Ready